Faculty Position in Engineering Design

The Thayer School of Engineering at Dartmouth invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position in engineering design. Candidates should have both (1) a Ph.D. in engineering or a related field and (2) deep knowledge and experience with human-centered design methods and practice. The successful candidate will be a gifted teacher with a strong record of externally-funded research. In addition, the successful candidate will contribute across Dartmouth's teacher/scholar community, specifically working to develop programs and opportunities for design and innovation. The Thayer School is undergoing a significant expansion of faculty, facilities, and programs, and this position is a unique opportunity to help shape the future of the institution.

Engineering undergraduates at Dartmouth pursue a distinctive combination of the liberal arts and engineering within a single unified engineering department, characterized by a strong history and culture of design and entrepreneurship. Additionally, Dartmouth is training a new generation of technology leaders with the nation's first doctoral-level engineering Innovation Program. This program provides engineering Ph.D. candidates with entrepreneurial training for turning complex research discoveries into innovative applied technologies.

Interested candidates should submit a cover letter, complete CV, research and teaching statements, and contact information for three references via Interfolio at: http://apply.interfolio.com/54802

Review of applications will begin December 1st, 2018. Inquiries about the position should be directed to Professor Kofi Odame, Engineering Design Search Chair: odame@dartmouth.edu.

Dartmouth is a member of the Ivy League and consistently ranks among the world's greatest academic institutions. Home to a celebrated liberal arts curriculum and pioneering professional schools, Dartmouth has shaped the education landscape and prepared leaders through its inspirational learning experience. The College has forged a singular identity, combining its deep commitment to outstanding undergraduate liberal arts and graduate education with distinguished research and scholarship in the Arts and Sciences and its three leading professional schools — Geisel School of Medicine, Thayer School of Engineering, and Tuck School of Business.
