DIVISION 44 WEBINAR SERIES: LGBTQ Asylum Seekers

Join Us April 30, 2020, 12:00–1:00 PM Eastern

A Framework for Clinical Practice with Sexual and Gender Minority Asylum Seekers

Sarilee Kahn, PhD, Edward Alessi, PhD, and Nadine Nakamura, PhD

Sarilee Kahn, PhD, Edward Alessi, PhD, and Nadine Nakamura, PhD will present a clinical practice framework for working with LGBTQ asylum seekers. Integrating concepts from complex trauma, minority stress, intersectionality, acculturation, and resilience, the framework is intended to help LGBTQ asylum seekers heal from trauma across the lifespan, handle the demands of asylum and acculturation, and manage the stress of holding multiple, marginalized identities.

This webinar is “beginner” skill level and is appropriate for psychologists and psychology graduate students.

Learning Objectives

1. Apply a clinical practice framework for working with LGBTQ asylum seekers
2. Describe the role of complex trauma, minority stress, intersectionality, acculturation and resilience on the experiences of LGBTQ asylum seekers
3. Explain the demands of asylum and acculturation on LGBTQ asylum seekers
