Presidents notes

I would like to welcome our two new guest's Dan Marantz and Shirley Kinsey. Hope to see you as regular members at our future meetings.

Call for pens.... Gene is working on collecting pens for some local vets. This is a great way to show your support as well as your excellent workmanship. Bring your pens to the meeting and Gene will distribute them on his next visit. This is ongoing as there are always a need for them. I'm hoping to get our mini lathe's set up for pen making so you can make a few during our learn to turn hour. Event Date Saturday Sept. 21st 9:30am Ray Lanham tickets are available. $25.00 per person with lunch included. Please get your tickets early so we know how much food and drinks we need to order. Already got a few calls from some of the other local clubs, and it looks like this will be well attended.

My new lathe is in and working. I'm planning a review once I've had a chance to give it a full work out. I was a bit worried about Grizzly but so far, I'm very pleased. With that said I have offered my Jet 14-40 to the club and Bob Hopkins has made an offer to donate his band saw as well. We will be taking inventory of what the club owns and needs as we build our school needs. This may result in selling off items that are no longer needed. We will offer these to our members 1st. If you have good useful tools taking up space in your shop, please consider donating them to the club.

Rick, Criss and Mike will be set up at the Artist Exchange Festival this year on Sunday Sept 22nd from 10am till 4pm. We will be running the lathe's and looking for new members. This a fun event for the whole family. It's held on Rolfe Sq. in Cranston. (one mile west of the school off Park Ave) They have music, food, dancing and more as well as a few dozen artist vendors. (Oh did I mention beer) Save the date.

Are you on Facebook? Our followers have doubled in the past 6 months. This is working well to help us find new members as well as our website. Check us out Roland and I post a few pictures as well as upcoming club info often.

We have a great demo lined up for our August 15th meeting. You don't want to miss this one. I also have some oak burls and willow burls for the raffle. We'll do $1 per ticket and 6 for $5. We'll do the 50/50 and keep drawing for the burls as well.

Are you ready to do a club demonstration?

Do you have some ideas for new membership?

Do you have some learn to turn helpful tips?

Craig is looking for help with the website if you know anyone in that field.

Ocean Woodturners has an email distribution list from Freelists.org. To join the list please go to our website www.oceanwoodturners.com and choose "Become a Member from the left column of links. Then choose step 4 and follow the instructions. This is simply an email distribution list, there will not be a web page to go to, any email sent to the list will be forwarded to everyone on the list. If someone attempts to send an email to the list that is not a member of the list it will end up in the moderator's action list. Our Yahoo group is being shut down and will no longer exist after September 1st. You will need to sign up on Freelists.org, membership to the Yahoo email distribution list will NOT transfer to Freelists.org.

Check out the new Ocean Woodturners Facebook page! It's brand new so we'll be adding content as time passes. Make sure to Like and Share, and help bring much-needed public exposure to our Club!
